Drugged Driving

30 minutes 2017 teens/adults DVD

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=9yWO4xTxN4E>

On any day, at any time, the person driving next to you could be impaired. Increasingly, Nebraska's health care, safety and law enforcement experts point to a dangerous new trend -- driving impaired from illegal drugs, pills or even common prescription medicines. The threat is the greatest during the evening hours on weekends when as many as one in four drivers could be impaired, according to studies by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration. NET's (Nebraska's PBS Station) newest documentary "Drugged Driving" addresses this new and dangerous trend and what is being done to improve safety. It explores how medications can impair vision and balance, cause drowsiness or even render a driver unconscious. "Drugged Driving" also looks at research being conducted at the University of Nebraska Medical Center's Mind and Brain Health Labs. The lab uses car simulations and real-time driving data studies to learn how brain activity affects real-world behavior. University researchers are examining connections between personal medical needs, reasoning and reactions.

Curbing Distracted Driving – Teen and Trucks

22 minutes 2012 teens DVD

Distracted driving may be the single largest contributing factor to traffic crashes today. Studies show up to 25% of crashes are directly caused by distracted driving. And while most people think primarily of texting and hand-held cell phone use as the most common "distractions" on the road, anything that takes the driver's attention away from the driving task is a distraction. The DVD discusses three types of distractions: visual, manual, and cognitive.

Danger Behind the Wheel: The Facts about Distracted Driving

26 minutes 2010 teens/adults DVD

This powerful program emphasizes the dangers of driving distractions—applying makeup, eating, changing radio stations, but most of all, talking or texting via cell phone while driving. Viewers hear from ordinary people whose lives have been forever changed because of distracted driving. A young driver who crashed his car while texting describes how it feels to know that he caused the deaths of two innocent people. A young woman describes the severe injuries she endured—in addition to her parents’ deaths—as a result of a distracted teen talking on his phone while driving. Jennifer Smith, co-founder of the advocacy group FocusDriven, shares her story. A researcher explains that driving simulations in his lab have shown that talking on a cell phone—even with a hands-free device—is as dangerous as driving drunk. The program’s unforgettable stories and statistics make it clear that no cell phone call is worth losing a life.

At any time, about 10 percent of drivers are distracted. They account for about 20 percent of vehicle crashes in Nebraska. Cell phones, passengers, even the radio can distract a driver to the extent that they are risking the safety of themselves and others on the road. Research shows that driving distracted is the same risk as someone with an illegal blood alcohol level of .08. Research also shows that while many people feel they are good at multitasking, it comes with a price and trying to drive while texting or concentrating on a phone conversation is not a good idea. Unsafe Driving Acts of Motorists in the Vicinity of Large Trucks

Experts report the condition most common in collisions involving passenger vehicles and large trucks is motorists' unfamiliarity with the performance, limitations, and capabilities of large trucks. It appears that most drivers are unaware of the limited acceleration, braking, visibility of large trucks and of the relationship between mass and velocity, and the potential consequences of that relationship to safety. Particularly distressing to truck drivers is when a motorist passes a large truck, quickly cuts in front of it, and then exits the highway. Some of the 23 unsafe driving acts covered in the DVD:

- Changing lanes abruptly in front of a truck.
- Right turn squeeze.
- Following too closely.
- Unsafe passing, primarily with insufficient headway.
- Unsafe speed.
- Merging improperly.
- Driving between large trucks.
- Stopping distance.

Is Today Your Day?

23 minutes 2010 law enforcement DVD

Law enforcement officers are at greater risk of death from traffic crashes than from any other cause including felony assaults. Though officers utilize a variety of safety gear to protect themselves from perceived threats, far too many die needlessly because they fail to use seatbelts and exercise good judgment while driving. These deaths exact a heavy toll on their agencies, their communities, and especially their families. This 23-minute roll-call training video underscores the tragedies that regrettably result from officers failing to wear their seatbelts. Unfortunately, too many situations over which officers lack control arise during their careers and result in their being seriously injured or killed. However, these situations never should include not wearing seatbelts, being ejected during collisions, and being seriously injured or killed.
